

Teaching with podcasts

As teachers we have big challenges in front of us such as finding diverse materials, engaging students, dealing with current affairs, involving teenagers outside the classroom and many more...

An interesting and innovative solution is working with podcasts.

Podcasts have a lot of potential for language teachers. First of all they are authentic. They provide examples of how people talk in real life and moreover students have the possibility to listen to a variety of accents and types of spoken English. Many explore completely niche subjects that are generally not taken into consideration in "normal" lessons.

They can be any length, from 2 minutes to 3 hours and therefore can be used for any purpose in the ESL classroom.

HOW TO USE PODCASTS IN THE CLASSROOM

Teaching with podcasts is more than simply listening to the audio file. They can be used to boost grammar, vocabulary, to teach listening skills but also speaking skills, for CLIL and civics and for many more reasons but the lesson with podcasts should be planned carefully.<

First of all podcasts should be chosen only when they align to the lesson plan and curriculum (both for language level and content), secondly podcasts should be followed by fun and interesting activities in order to keep students engaged.

In the following part of this article there will be a list of great podcasts to use in ESL classrom and some useful teaching ideas.
